PUBLIC MARKET MAY BE CLOSED

Last Season at Request of Producers the City Authorities Established a Market—Not Availing Themselves of It This Season—Action Soon to be Taken.

At the request of the producers last season the city authorities established a public market on Field Court, which proved a success. This season the market was established on Cornell street, but the producers are not availing themselves of the use of it. Unless the producers take some action shortly, it is understood that the city authorities will close the market.

Instead of using the market this season some of the producers are holding little markets of their own all over the city, in violation of the city ordinance, and falling back into the condition that the market was intended to remedy, and as a cure for which the market was established at the request of the producers.

Last season some of the producers complained that the market was opened too late. This season it was opened earlier but the producers who complained are not using it. In fact since the market opened a week or so ago but one or two have appeared there with produce.

Robert J. Harder, president of the Market Growers' Association, has called a meeting of the association for Thursday evening, June 1, at the court house at 8 o'clock "daylight saving time."

The purpose of the meeting will be to straighten out the situation concerning certain growers who are now selling their products at wholesale on Broadway and neglecting the space provided by the city.

THIS VAMP GAVE MILLER A DRINK

East Kingston Man Had Only One But It Caused Him to Run His Ford Car Into a Tree—When He Came To Under a Doctor's Care He Found Vamp Had Taken His Roll.

Harry Miller of East Kingston while on his way into Kingston Sunday evening "picked up" a young woman walking along the road, and took her for a ride. While driving through Foxhall avenue the young woman offered Miller a drink of what looked like whiskey.

That was the last thing Miller remembered until he was revived by Dr. Walter Hasbrouck who was called to the scene by Officer Peter Keresman after Miller had run his Ford car into a tree on Emerick street and had been hurled out of the car by the force of the impact.

According to the story Miller told Officer Keresman he had never seen the young woman before and did not know her name. The drink she had given him must have had "some kick" for it caused him to run his car off Foxhall avenue into Emerick street and into the tree. He was picked up by some who saw the accident and carried into the home of John Murphy at No. 68 Emerick street where he had his wounds dressed by Dr. Hasbrouck.

Miller said that his roll was missing and that the "vamp must have taken it." He had started out with about $25, and all he had left was $1.50 in change.

What became of the girl during Miller's trance is not known.

Only $2 Secured From West Shore Station But Thieves Pick Outfits That Suit Them From Clothing Store.

Sheriff Kolts and State Troopers were called Sunday to investigate two burglaries at Malden, town of Saugerties, took place after midnight Saturday night.

They ascertained that the West Shore railroad station had been entered and that $2 in money had been stolen in the form of $1.50 in pennies and four dimes and two nickels.

The store of Shea & Merowitz nearby had also been burglarized and one suit of dark blue, one suit of pepper and salt clothing, a gray cap, a brown cap, two pairs of shoes, two suits of underwear, two pairs hose, and a number of cigars and cigarettes were missing.

The burglars evidently had plenty of time to look over the stock and select the color of the clothes they wanted and the right fit, as they left behind two suits of old clothes and two suits of discarded underwear.

NEW LOW PRICE FOR USED FORD TRUCK?

Fourteen-year-old George Rose drove a Ford truck from Shandaken to Stamford township a few days ago, and after upsetting it and ruining his trousers he offered to sell it for $21 and a pair of pants. The pair of pants and $1 was given him by a farmer as first payment and Rose left the truck. Later a man named Risley of Shandaken appeared with an officer and claimed the car which young Rose, who had been working for him, had made off with, on the day he offered it for sale. Rose, who is an orphan, is said to be a somewhat erratic and lacking in mental poise. He will probably be paroled or sent to a reformatory.

NEARLY EVERYONE WORE A POPPY

Saturday's Sale Realized Over $600 for Veterans' Camp and Then the Supply of Flowers Ran Out.

Although it will be at least two or three days before complete returns will be made, it is estimated that over $600 will be realized from the sale of poppies Saturday when the women of the Auxiliary of the American Legion sold poppies for the benefit of the Veterans' Camp on Tupper Lake in the Adirondacks.

The sale was a decided success and long before evening the supply of poppies had been exhausted and more could have been disposed of had it been possible to secure them. The young women in charge of the sales were out early in the morning and by night few people were seen on the streets without a red poppy.

As no set price was charged but donations of any amount were received it is difficult to estimate the amount which really was taken in. Few sales were made for less than ten cents while in numerous instances quarters, half dollars and dollars were received.

Injunction To Prevent Competition With Bus

Five Taxi Drivers Ordered to Cease Cutting Into Spinneweber's Business and to Observe Law as to Operation in City at 15 Cent Rate.

Frederick J. Spinneweber of Port Ewen, who received permission last fall from the common council and from the public service commission to operate a bus line between Port Ewen and Kingston, on Saturday procured from County Judge Joseph M. Fowler an injunction restraining five of the taxicab drivers who have been competing with him for passengers, from operating a bus line between Kingston and Port Ewen and also restraining them from operating a bus line through the streets of Kingston at a fare of fifteen cents or less per passenger.

The injunction is directed to Jeremiah Relyea, Grover Walker, Leroy Horton, Henry Neher and Ross Neher, and also their agents, servants etc.

The law provides that anyone operating a bus line must procure permission from the common council of a city which it enters and likewise a certificate of necessity from the public service commission. The law also prohibits taxicab drivers from operating within a city at a fare of fifteen cents or less per passenger.

The defendants, it is claimed, have been operating their lines of taxicabs continuously between Port Ewen and the City of Kingston in competition with Mr. Spinneweber, who has taken all the necessary legal proceedings for the operation of his bus line. Augustus Shufeldt is attorney for Mr. Spinneweber.

Mr. Spinneweber's bus line operates over the Rondout Creek Bridge between its Port Ewen and Kingston city terminals.

DRUNKEN DRIVER STRUCK 2 CARS

At Ardonia Sunday Afternoon Modena Man Collided With Poughkeepsie Car, Then Ran Down Road on Two Wheels and Crashed Into Mott's Car.

A man named Carroll of Modena was the cause of two auto mishaps on the state road at Ardonia on Sunday afternoon and it was reported that he was placed under arrest by a deputy sheriff on a charge of driving a car while drunk. At the sheriff's office here nothing was known of the matter.

From the story as ascertained, Carrol, who was driving a Chalmers car, collided with a car from Poughkeepsie, which resulted in a woman in the Poughkeepsie car being injured, just how seriously was not learned, and two wheels on the Carroll car being knocked off.

Carroll's car continued on down the road for a distance of about one hundred and fifty feet on the two remaining wheels and interlocked with the Buick car driven by Samuel E. Mott, Jr., of Esopus.

As the two cars came together, Mrs. S. E. Mott, the mother of the driver, who sat in the rear seat, was cut with the flying glass from the windshield of the Carroll car and was thrown forward against the front seat, cracking her breast bone or sternum.

In the car with the injured woman was her daughter, Hazel, Miss Florence Booth, and Mrs. Mott's two grandchildren, Florence and Gladys. All of the party were badly shaken up, but Mrs. Mrs. Mott was the only one injured.

Mr. Mott when asked about the accident over the telephone today stated that Carroll was so drunk that when the two cars were being separated he fell asleep in his car. From its accounts Carroll also escaped injury.

The travel to the mountains has been unusually heavy while local traffic has been equally heavy. To add to the congestion of Saturday afternoon hundreds of cars bringing people from the ball game at the Kingston Fair Grounds took this route and for a time North Front street had an appearance of a crowded street in New York.

Deserving of Gratitude.

An encyclopedia tells us the orange was brought to Europe by the Moors, and introduced into Italy during the Fourteenth century. It was unknown to the ancient Greeks and Romans, though they had both lemons and citrons. The Moors appear to have used it medicinally, especially the rind. We can understand that when it was once known it was not a very long step to its being cooked with sugar. Then, we may suppose, some traveling Englishman came across it, and having tasted and liked it took a sample and a recipe home with him, and so started the national taste for marmalade. Whoever he was, we owe him gratitude.—Montreal Family Herald.

Here's the Happy Way to Rid Yourself of Constipation PERMANENTLY!

Bran is the most wonderful health food known! Nine-tenths of human ills would be eliminated if all the people would eat bran regularly, because bran corrects constipation! Constipation can be blamed as the starting point of 90% of the sickness!

Bran in deliciously palatable form—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled—will give permanent relief from constipation if eaten regularly each day. We guarantee that results will prove astounding if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten, daily. Chronic cases should use as much as is needed.

Physicians indorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation. It is not only surely effective as a permanent relief if eaten regularly, but it is the ideal way to correct constipation through food!

Kellogg's Bran is not a cathartic—it is nature's food that will not only delight your palate but safeguard your health! Start the children eating Kellogg's Bran. It builds strong bodies! Serve bran to your family as a cereal or on other cereals! Use it generously making muffins, macaroons, raisin bread or in a hundred appetizing ways! Pancakes made of Kellogg's Bran are the best you ever ate!

The consistent use of Kellogg's Bran will clear up a pimply skin and purify the blood.

Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly, prevents a bad breath from the stomach and intestines. Your grocer has it.

P. S. By the way, it's a happy-health-habit to keep Kellogg's Bran on the dining table all the time! Sprinkle it on your food!

SCHATZ CAME AND WERE CONQUERED

Eight To Four Was Score Of Best Game This Season, Seen By One Of Biggest Crowds—Timely Hitting Won Game

The Schatz Club of Poughkeepsie went down to defeat for the first time this season at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon. Before a crowd estimated at over 3,000, the fighting clan of Captain Schirick sent Elmer Steele's crew back to the Bridge City smarting under the sting of an 8 to 4 defeat.

For sensational fielding, timely hitting and nerve-racking situations, Sunday's game takes high honors of any played in Kingston this season. Despite a four run lead secured by the Colonials in the first inning, not until Culloton fanned Marsh for the final out of the game did the big crowd of Kingston fans draw a sigh of relief.

J William Schatz, whose chief ambition is to own a ball team that can defeat the Parker Axles and the Kingston Colonials, has a mighty sweet ball club this season. A more dangerous bunch of clouters can hardly be imagined in semi-pro circles. But Bud Culloton, backed by some gilt-edge support proved their master, despite the fact that the Schatz got twelve hits to seven for Kingston.

Two fast double plays, one engineered by Fitzgerald and the other by Culloton himself, pulled the Kingston pitcher out of two bad holes. In the fourth, with Phelan on second and Marsh on first as a result of a walk by the former and a single by the latter, Casserly drove a wicked drive to center. Fitzgerald came charging in for the ball and made a most marvelous catch, and then tossed to Deegan before Phelan could get back to the bag.

With three men on and one out in Poughkeepsie's half of the eighth and Shay at the bat, things looked dark for Kingston But Culloton forced Shay to hit into a fast double play Culloton to Robins to Coyle.

A wonderful catch by Bill Schwab, who seems to be making a specialty of sensational catches this year, saved the Kingston team possible trouble in the first inning. Shay sent a line drive to left, which Schwab gathered in at his shoe tops and then rolled over two or three times, but came up with the ball.

Kingston started out in the first determined to put the game away then and there Cassidy started the fireworks by throwing over Murphy's head on Fitzgeralds grounder, the Kingston center-fielder taking second Coyle followed with a sacrifice down the first base line, sending Fitzgerald to third Beecher helped Kingston's cause along by passing O'Mara Deegan worked the count to three and two and then slammed one to right for a single, Fitzgerald crossing the rubber with the first run of the game Robins sent one to right ist out of Steele's reach, O Mara reaching home and Deegan taking third Connors, who played third in place of Glaser, went out, Cassidy to Murphy Schwab sent a single to center scoring Deegan and Robins, but was out when he tried to steal second.

The Poughkeepsie rooters, and there were plenty of them scattered throughout the stand and along the benches, got their first chance to yell in the third Cassidy got the first hit off Culloton by placing the ball over the right field fence. Incidentally, it was the first hit made over this fence since the grounds were opened Beecher and Shay got to Culloton for safeties in this frame, but were left stranded

Kingston got the run back in their half of the same inning With two down Deegan got his second hit and made second when Sheckard fumbled the ball Robins came through with another single to left, Deegan reaching home Jack tired out Marsh's whip in an attempt to steal second, but the ball beat him to the bag.

Two men were down in the fifth when the Bridge City crew started some more trouble. Sheckard got a gift from Bud and took first on four wide ones Shay sent Sheckard to third and made second himself on his hit to center. Elmer Steele drove a terrific liner down the third base line and Sheckard and Shay touched the plate. "Big Ed" Phelan, who struck out on his first appearance and who made but one single during the afternoon, ended the inning with a grounder to Connors.

The sixth gave Kingston another run Casserly obliged again by throwing wild on O'Mara's hit, "Fritz" taking second. Deegan was hit by a pitched ball. Robins laid a neat bunt down the first base line, and when Beecher threw to the bag no one was there to take the throw, O Mara making home. Beecher then showed some fine pitching by striking out Connors and Schwab, and got himself out of the hole entirely by picking Robins off second.

Three hits in the seventh netted the Poughkeepsie men another run. Schekard singled to center with one down and went to third when Steele drove a liner to left, Shay's out to Fitzgerald being sandwiched in between. Phelan singled to right and Sheckard reached the plate. The bases were filled when Marsh got a walk, but Bud forced Gray to roll to the box.

The "lucky" seventh proved a good inning for Kingston. Moore started things moving with a single over Casserly's head and went to second on Culloton's neat sacrifice down the first-base line. Fitzgerald, who hasn't missed getting a hit in any game this season, smashed a single to center and Moore reached the scoring station. Fitzgerald taking third when Marsh let the throw-in get by him "Fitz" reached home a minute later when Marsh let one of Becher's fast ones go through his mitt for a passed ball.

A neat double play pulled the Colonials out of a bad mess in the eighth. With one down, Murphy, '15 Cornell captain, singled to center Beal, hitting for Beecher, sent a grounder to Connors, who threw to Moore for a double play. Moore missed the throw and all hands were safe Murphy taking third and Beal reaching second. Culloton then filled the bags by giving Sheckard a walk. The Poughkeepsie fans begged Shay to give them a hit, but Culloton made Shay send a hot grounder to the box, forcing Murphy at home and doubling Shay at first.

The ninth was uneventful for either side, except that McDermott, a tall left hander with an underhand delivery, relieved Beecher in the box.

RAIL WAGE CUT IS ANNOUNCED

Maintenance of Way Annual Payroll Shaved $48,000,000 Per Year—Decisions Affecting Other Classes Except Train Service Expected This Week.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 29.—Railroad labor was preparing today for a "fight to the finish" against wage cuts announced by the United States Railway Labor Board.

"This decision of the Railway Labor Board is indefensible and undoubtedly will be rejected by railway employes when submitted to them for a vote in accordance with the laws of their organizations," was the declaration of B M Jewell, president of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor.

The decision announced here last night cuts $48,000,000 from the annual payroll of the railways, effective July 1 Other pending wage decisions probably will add at least $100,000,000 to this saving

The decision announced last night affects approximately 400,000 maintenance of way employes and orders a reduction of 13.2 in the prevailing rates. Wage reduction orders involving all other classes of railway labor, excepting train service and yard employes, will be issued in time to become effective July 1, also it was said. If predictions are fulfilled, these pay cuts—taken with the $400,000,000 reduction of July, 1921, will put the railway wage scale back to where it was before the $600,000,000 increase of May, 1920.

Wages of maintenance of way employes, now ranging from 28 to 40 cents an hour, will, after July 1, range from 23 to 35 cents an hour, by the terms of the decision. Although pending settlement of their working rules, the big four brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America are not parties to any dispute before the labor board, it is generally conceded as inevitable that they must soon face a wage fight. The impending decisions, which may be forthcoming this week, will apply to the 500,000 railway shopmen and about 200,000 clerks, telegraphers, station employes and other small classes.

The Labor Board's decision was concurred in by the three public members and the three railroad members. Appended was a dissenting opinion signed by the three labor members A. O. Wharton, Albert Phillips and W. L. McMenimen They objected on the ground that the pay now prescribed does not constitute the "just and reasonable" wages guaranteed under the Transportation act; that, in effect, it does not represent a living wage.

The prevailing opinion however, basing conclusions on Department of Labor figures, stated that the purchasing power of the wages now to prevail will be 44.5 per cent, greater than those of December, 1917. These conclusions are attacked in the dissenting opinion which maintains that the increased purchasing power is only 15.9 per cent.

The majority report, signed by Ben W. Hooper, chairman, points out that labor on railroads, even with the coming decrease, will be receiving higher pay than similar labor in most other industries.

Sent to Coventry.

The phrase "To send one to Coventry" means to take no notice of him The story goes that the inhabitants of the city of Coventry, England, had, at one time, so great an aversion to soldiers that a woman seen speaking to one was at once tabooed. No intercourse whatever was allowed between the garrison and the town; hence when a soldier was sent to Coventry he was cut off from all social life outside barracks. Coventry, famous in the old days for watch-making, then silk weaving, then bicycle manufacturing, is now a center of the automobile industry.

HAD CLEAR VISION OF RADIO

Imaginative Canadian Writer Looked Into the Future With Sight That Was Prophetic.

A remarkable imaginative prediction of wireless telephony was made by Grant Balfour (J. M. Grant) of Toronto in a triologue which appeared in an English magazine in 1909, and was afterward reproduced in a pamphlet entitled "Bahrak-Kohl," two Hebrew words, meaning the voice of the lightning. The characters of this little treatise were represented as in the neighborhood of the Jordan.

"The prophet now took from his girdle," says the narrative, "a small instrument resembling a trumpet for the deaf. Coming down to Mohammed, he asked him to turn his right side toward the south and to put the broad end of the instrument to his right ear. The prophet then inquired where his home was.

"'My home,' replied Mohammed, 'is in the extreme south of Arabia, 1,400 miles away'

"'Listen now,' said the prophet; dost thou hear the sound of waves?'

"'I do,' replied the sheik. 'Where may they be?'

"'These waves,' answered the prophet, 'are the waves of the Indian ocean breaking upon the Arabian shore.'"

Further describing the instrument, the prophet said: "The thing before thee is but a rude pattern in part of the coming needed device of man No such device is required by a prophet of the Lord to entrust the lightning with a message: The prophet speaks, nay, he needs but to will, and it is done."—Toronto Globe

GREEK ART LONG IN MAKING

Mistaken Idea Too Long Held That It Was a Thing of Spontaneous Growth.

Every now and then some extreme modernist comes forward with the statement that the Greek inspiration has no place in the art of our time Yet, from a broad modern standpoint, "classic art" has so greatly enlarged its scope and widened its horizon that it seems in no danger of dying out of the present-day world. What used to be called "the classic traditions" have long since died out and given place to new conceptions of the origins of Greek art, and the tendency of modern criticism is also to revise old ideas of late classic styles Any and all periods of Hellenic development are accepted—in their relation to our own time rather than as absolute, conservative ideals of beauty

Archeology has, in our day, become one of the most vividly interesting and thoroughly alive of pursuits continually opening up new avenues of inquiry, and giving light and inspiration to the whole field of art Archeological discoveries of the last 50 years have shown that the golden age of Greek art was more than 2,000 years in the making It is strange enough to think that previously it was regarded as a spontaneous growth, with origins veiled in impenetrable mystery. Now, the adventurer into the great regions of knowledge, where the story of Greek civilization unfolds itself may become possessed of at least the main facts of prehistoric epochs long before Greek art became Greek.—"The Field of Art," in Scribner's.

Job Led Israel Out of Egypt.

A northern visitor was playing golf on one of the Florida winter resort courses this spring, where the caddies were largely colored boys Most of the boys he found to be deeply religious It is open to question whether they read the Bible themselves or absorbed most of their knowledge through their ears, listening to their elders

The northerner and his caddy were walking down the fairways "You know considerable about the Bible Henry," the player said, "I suppose you know that when Jonah led the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt it took them almost a lifetime to get to the promised land"

"No, sir,' the colored boy replied, "that wasn't Jonah what led the Israels Jonah never done that It was Job."

Physician Uses Airplane.

A doctor in Syria, to keep in touch with his patients among the wandering Bedouin tribes, uses an airplane. From his headquarters in Palmyra he flies over the desert, alighting wherever he finds a tribe encamped. His fame as a physician has already spread far into the desert, and whenever his 'plane lands Bedouin patients flock to consult him. Although his practice covers a wide area and his nomad patients are constantly on the move his task is comparatively easy The clear air of the desert makes it possible for him to see encampments at a great distance. Doctor Martinet has already flown to and treated over 100 serious cases and many minor ones

Leather-Softening Machine.

Working leather by the various processes known as graining, boarding and staking, ordinarily a laborious manual operation, is now accomplished by mechanical means with a machine designed by a Massachusetts inventor, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine. Two broad belts, running on rollers, are so mounted that faces traveling in opposite directions are arranged one above the other, a short distance apart. The hide to be softened is laid on a metal plate and inserted between the belt faces, the upper half then being pressed down by a lever.

Sun's Distance From the Earth.

The distance of the sun from the earth has been changed from more than 95,000,000 miles to less than 93,000,000 miles by estimates made within living memory. Fresh computations place it at about 92,822,000 miles.

MEMORIAL DAY.

In a large part of the United States tomorrow the people will observe Memorial Day. The states which formerly composed the Confederacy observe their own Memorial Day at another time of the year but their object is the same as our own.

Once a year the busy world stops long enough in its work to decorate the graves not only of the men who served their country during wartime but also of the civilian dead whose memories are cherished.

To a large proportion of the people Memorial Day has deeper meaning than the simple act of respect to members of the immediate family who have died. Its appealing strength lies in the ideals which are stirred to action by the recollection of those who have been removed from view, whose memory alone survives.

It is characteristic of human nature to remember most easily the good qualities of the dead Their faults are most easily overlooked or forgotten The reason goes no further than the natural desire to seek pleasure mental or otherwise, therefore, we cultivate pleasant thoughts of those whom we know cannot defend themselves after death.

Man realizes his own weaknesses and mistakes. Conscience always speaks when he considers what others will say of him after he is dead. Then he applies the Golden Rule to those who have died. Whatever belief or lack of belief there may be concerning a future state, natural pride, or egotism, causes most of us to wish that death shall forever hide our faults.

Perhaps Memorial Day may be spent entirely in conformity with plans for pleasure but it will not be possible to go anywhere without a reminder of the day s purpose The holiday pastime feature is beneficial, for predominating sadness destroys usefulness But until human nature is changed the ideals quickened, perhaps unconsciously, by the present method of observance and tribute to the dead will tend to make men and women better. Whatever has that tendency should be forever preserved as an American institution.

OUR RED CROSS IN EUROPE.

Tribute has been paid to the work of the American Red Cross in Europe by even the head of a far Moslem community who, after seeing with his own eyes, is said to have written that the United States had been created in order that "out of compassion and charity" it might "do good to humanity." This, in addition to the grateful acknowledgments of so many races and nations of Europe, may be said to complete the testimony showing that the "A. R. C." carried on in Europe the greatest crusade of mercy the world has ever known. The subject is once more topical in consequence of the cable dispatch from Paris reporting the withdrawal of the organization from Europe, where its benefactions will long be remembered.

It is stated that the great undertakings of the American Red Cross in Europe during and since the World War cost more than half a billion dollars, but this sum by no means represents all that was contributed. It does not include voluntary labor without charge of millions of Americans representing practically every community in the United States. The extent of the gift of America to Europe in the form of the Red Cross can not be measured in terms of money. We may well believe that the work done in a vast area from the Baltic to the Euphrates, as the report says, has "left an enduring impression on millions of grateful hearts." Though the great organization of mercy will now be formally withdrawn from overseas, it is stated that it will continue to give aid here and there in response to urgent calls.

The sinking of an Italian steamer in the Black Sea by Russian shore batteries calls to mind incendiary words Trotsky is said to have addressed recently to a class of cadets, as follows: "Don't believe in the Geneva speeches; trust only your bayonets and your batteries. Conference will not give us what we need. This can only be obtained by having the Red army cross the frontier of capitalistic States and the red flag wave over the whole of Europe Perhaps during the summer the Red army will be called upon to give proof of its fighting force." This is hardly a good way to induce the "capitalistic" countries to furnish the desired six hundred millions a year for three years.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. When do toads take to the land for good,

The toad is a land creature and only goes to the water to breed The tadpoles stay in the water till they lose their tails, then go to a land home But being sensitive and accustomed to have their skin wet, they prefer a damp or rainy time to make the change They are thought to leave the pond by night, usually, and if the weather is dry, they hide to keep out of the sun, by going under chips, stones, grasses, etc.

2. Were the bears of the Bible bears as we now know them?

Yes the Scriptural bear was Ursus syriacus, presumably the same species as found in modern times in mountainous parts of Palestine Said to be light brown in color and to belong to the general group of brown bears Although counted vegetarian, the Bible account of David when he slew a bear that attacked his father's sheep, shows that this bear ate flesh at times

3. Why do we see fewer chickadees in summer than in winter?

For one thing, they are more conspicuous in winter because other birds are not about Then many of them go north of the states to a cooler climate for nesting, and those that stay and nest near their common home seem less tame than usual, and to want a retired spot for their nests and young.

POWER AND PROSPERITY

Dr. Chas. F. Scott, Professor of Electrical Engineering at Yale University, is quoted as having stated recently:

"The use of electric power is an index of civilization. The conservation of coal resources due to the use of power in the most economical manner is a consideration of great importance. Nothing is so important in the daily life of a community as the wide distribution of power. The key to prosperity is the great production by machinery and power."

In this series of ads, we have endeavored to bring out this very point. Electric power in these days is essential to community prosperity.

ULSTER SCENERY WELL PORTRAYED

In Autumn Scene at Moonhaw Lodge as Painted by John W. Evans—Being Shown Here.

A beautiful painting by John W. Evans, the celebrated artist and wood engraver, of the Moonhaw Lodge in Ketcham Hollow in the Catskills, has been placed on exhibtion in the show window of Charles A Warren on Fair street where it attracts much attention.

The painting was made by Mr. Evans for Joseph Drake of New York city who presented it to Christopher K. Loughran, who is one of the founders of Moonhaw.

The scene shows Moonhaw in autumn, with the beautiful autumnal foliage, and the trout-filled Moonhaw Lake forms a striking contrast with the other surroundings The painting is one of the most beautiful landscape scenes which has been produced of Ulster county scenery.

Mr Evans is one of the few wood engravers of note in the United States and among his recent engravings is a scene used to illustrate the last cover issue of the New York Telephone Review which heretofore has followed the example of other magazines by using the lithographing process for its cover illustrations.

Carlton says the sign works Fishermen close his gates, repair his fences if they accidentally break them down and use his premises well generally. This isn't the experience of neighbors who have their premises posted. Possibly Carlton understands human nature.

GAS NEAR HEART IS VERY DANGEROUS

Gas around the heart is not only painful and distressing. It often is the warning of conditions, which if not corrected may become dangerous. Many times the gas is caused by derangement of the digestive tract. Food is not digested properly. Gas forms and presses around the heart, interfering with its action. In acute indigestion this often results seriously. One or two Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules give quick relief. They assist in the proper assimilation of food.

M'AULIFFE STARS IN SATURDAY GAME

Aided Especially By Artie Rice and Cy Conners He Bats and Pitches Bonackers Into 6 to 2 Defeat.

When a pitcher holds a team to five scattered hits, strikes out ten men, and in addition to that, makes two doubles and a single in four times at bat, he surely deserves to win his game. Well, that is what Bill McAuliffe did against the Bonackers Saturday afternoon, and Bill won his game, 6 to 2.

McAuliffe's pitching entitled him to a shut out over the heavy hitting up-staters, but two unfortunate errors on the part of the Colonials' infield gave the Bonackers two runs in the third inning and put them on even terms with the Kingston team. The Rensselaer hitters broke their backs trying to connect with Mack's slants, but at no time were they able to connect for more than one hit in an inning.

Two other Kingstonians are credited with a big share of the victory over Hepinstall's fighting crew. One John—beg pardon—Cy Conners was called on to pinch hit for Moore in the eighth inning, with the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Colonials and two men on the bases. And John—beg pardon—Cy, obliged with a double down the left field foul line and sent one runner home and another to third. And then one Artie Rice was likewise called on to wield the bludgeon in place of Dutch Glaser. Did Artie come through? You bet! A sizzling three bagger between Schilling and Hager sent Conners and Schwab home, and Rice himself touched the rubber when McAuliffe got his third hit of the day. That put an end to whatever hopes the Capital district champions had of capturing the game.

Captain Schirick gave his batting order a shake-up before the game, and the new combination worked well. Playing right field for the Schirickmen was "Fritz" O'Mara, ex-Kingston High, Dean Academy and Tufts College star. O'Mara batted in third place, Robins taking Glaser's place in the batting order and "Dutch" being shifted below Moore.

Bobby Coyle, who got three hits during the day, started things moving for the Kingston team in the first, when he doubled down the left field line. O'Mara made his debut in a Colonial uniform this season by sending a hot drive over second and Coyle made the rounds. A base on balls to Deegan advanced "Fitz" a notch, and when Bill Schwab smote one to center O'Mara rode home.

From the first to the fifth neither team was able to find the ball with much success, though Hepinstall's men tied it up in the third. Deegan's throw on Jim Haber's grounder went over Coyle's head, and the Rensselaer lead-off man made second. John Haber did the real brotherly act and sent Jim home with a single to left, John taking second on the throw to the plate. Att struck out, but Moore threw wild on Schilling's grounder and John Haber came home with the tieing score.

Kingston broke the tie in the fifth. After McAuliffe went out on a fly to Corbett, Fitzgerald strolled to first on four wide ones. Coyle put Leo in a scoring position by singling to left. O'Mara forced Coyle at second. Kurth to John Haber but Fitzgerald made home when the second baseman's throw to first to double O'Mara went wild.

Kingston went into the eighth with the one-run lead, the Bonacker hitsmiths finding themselves unable to solve McAuliffe's twisters. In the seventh the Colonial twirler retired the first and third hitter on strikes, and in the eighth sent all three of the up-staters back after whiffing at the third one.

Then came Kingston's half of the eighth and the successful pinch-hitting of Conners and Rice. The Bonackers got two men on in their half of the ninth when McAuliffe issued his only pass of the game to Shilling, first man up, and Kurth singled after Corbett had struck out. Hager lifted a fly to Deegan and Hepinstall, batting for Weiss, ended the game with a roller to McAuliffe.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. AND MRS. GOOSE

"I don't much mind if I'm called Mr Goose at times, or even all the time," said Mrs. Goose's mate whose real name was Gander.

"Very Much Bigger."

He was also called Jimmie Gander. So he was well supplied with names.

"The main thing is," said Gander, "that we get enough to eat. Of course we aren't like the greedy pigs and not as much has been said about us as has been said about them.

"Well — that's right. We're not like the pigs But gracious me, we do like to eat.

"It is said that a goose will eat as much as a cow. Yes, that is what has been said and that is the truth too.

"That is splendid I think, for a cow is much bigger than a goose.

"Yes, a cow is very, very much bigger than a goose. One thinks of a cow as an enormous animal, but one doesn't think of a goose as so very enormous."

"That is so," shrieked Mrs. Goose. "What you say is very true.

"I think it is splendid to think of how much we can eat and yet we're not so enormous.

"We will eat all the time and we're not very fussy about our food. We will eat almost anything we can get hold of and will enjoy it.

"We have a regular system about our eating, and a system is very superior. People have a system about eating too when they eat breakfast and dinner and supper.

"But our system is greatly superior for we eat all the time as we've said.

"To be sure people eat between meals, but they're not almost constantly eating as we are.

"They're doing other things. Perhaps it keeps us from having great brains to eat all the time.

"For awhile a creature must eat to be well and to be wise too, still we take up all the time in eating when others would be using some of that time thinking of how they could study and improve their minds or something foolish like that.

"Probably we're called geese because we think such things as studying and thinking are foolish and a waste of time Perhaps that is why it is. But who cares? Not a goose at least.

"But our system is so splendid. We eat all the time as we've said several times already, but after we eat we get a drink and wash down our food and then we eat again.

"That's system."

"It most certainly is," said Gander.

"We will go in the garden and eat up all the cabbage if we get the chance," he added.

"We've done that," grinned Mrs. Goose.

"We have our own ways of doing things. We hide our nest," she continued, "which I build and then you sit by me while I'm hatching the eggs and you are very sociable and friendly to me.

"Five or fifteen eggs—it makes not such a great deal of difference."

But what beautiful little geese did hatch out not so long ago.

"In the Garden."

"You were a proud father, Gander."

"Oh, of course I was," said Gander. "And all ganders are as I was

"They're all very proud of their young and will fight for them and will look after them.

"They cannot help being proud of the beautiful little geese.

"And they grow up to be big and splendid and rather foolish too like the whole Goose family.

"That's just the way they should do too. Oh, yes, a Father Gander is very proud of his children.

"Well, Mrs. Goose, "it has been nice to have had a chance to tell some of our ways.

"Sometimes we don't receive much attention—but then it is our own fault for we like to go off by ourselves and pay no attention to others!"

Worth While.

A little boy stood at the garden gate and howled and howled and howled A passing lady paused beside him.

"What's the matter, little man?" she asked.

"O-o-oh!" he wailed. "Pa and ma won't take me to the movies."

"But don't make such a noise. Do they ever take you when you cry like that?"

"S-s-sometimes they d-do and sometimes they d-don't," wept the lad, "but it ain't no trouble to yell."—American Legion Weekly.

Oh, soul, that will complain,
What is concealed below
Our burden and our pain,
How just our anguish brings
Nearer those longed for things
We seek for now in vain—
I think thou wouldst rejoice, and not complain.

HELPFUL HINTS

Add a scraped carrot or two to lima beans; it improves the flavor of the beans.

When serving an egg on toast to a sick person, cut the toast into inch pieces and cover with the poached egg. It is much easier disposed of by the patient.

Large dinner napkins, in most families seldom used, were (four of them) set together with insertion of heavy lace and finished around the edge with the insertion and the lace. This makes a most desirable and pretty luncheloth.

When curtains with any design become faded, dip them in dye to match the fittings of the room. The design will still show and the curtains will look like new.

Toasted cornflakes used to roll croquettes will give a new, nutty flavor to such foods.

An ordinary strawberry huller is a most useful utensil to remove pinfeathers from fowl.

In ironing save the heat by ironing all the small things on the sheets and pillowcases. The larger pieces will be well ironed by the time the smaller ones are done.

To keep walnut meats fresh, place them, after heating them in the oven, in glass jars and seal. The heating improves the flavor and they keep much longer.

When making apple pie or dumplings roll a little grated cheese into the pastry.

When putting away linens place the freshly ironed ones at the bottom of the pile; in this way they are all used in turn.

A piece of tin or thin piece of wood may be used to protect the walls when washing the woodwork. It is slipped along as the woodwork is washed.

Hard sauce, left from the pudding served at dinner, may be used the next day in making tea cakes or small gem cakes.

Vend Still Spoken in Jugo-Slavia.

Hundreds of years ago, a band of Norse vikings forsook the sea and trekked overland into what is now Jugo-Slavia. Here they found a broad fertile valley, nearly 100 miles across, in the southern part of the present Jugo-Slav kingdom, and settled down, marrying native women, whose tribal tongue is the Slovenian of the present day. From that union of Norwegian and the Slav dialect a hybrid language grew, and today their descendants in that valley speak Vend.

WOODSTOCK SCHOOLS HOLD BIG FIELD DAY

The annual picnic and field day of the Woodstock schools was held on Monday, May 22, at the village of Woodstock. The pupils and teachers of the town arrived on the school grounds between nine and ten o'clock.

The games began at ten. The first event was a relay race between the different schools of the town. The pupils of the Zena school proved to be the most speedy in this event. This was followed by the fifty yard dash for girls. This was won by Lena Ploss of Woodstock in the 90 pound class and by Margaret Happy in the class under 90 pounds.

The races were followed by games of end ball, volley ball, and dodge ball.

At noon the different schools grouped together for lunch. After lunch was over some plays and recitations were given. Epaminondas was given by the primary department of the Woodstock school and the pupils of the Zena school presented a very pretty nature play. Margaret Happy recited "The Landing of the Pilgrims," and Margaret O'Brien gave "Lochinvar" followed with "The Modern Lochinvar" by Shirley Elwyn. Marie Ponsolle of Shady gave a wonderful interpretation of Uncle Remus's "The Tar Baby." Superintendent Andrews gave an interesting address at the close of the recitations.

The last event of the afternoon was marching by the pupils of the higher grades followed by exercises given under the direction of the Misses Mead, Wagar, and Lane, and closing with the salute to the flag and singing "America."

The teachers who intend to remain in the town the coming year regret very much that they will lose the Wagar sisters whose hearty cooperation in such events has been very much appreciated.

Secret of Brasses.

The Japanese are famed not only for their skill in making decorative articles, but for the beauty of the material used. It is said that the secret of the composition of some of their alloys of brass and copper has only lately been revealed. The finest Japanese brass, called "shachu," consists of ten parts of copper and five of zinc. Another very beautiful alloy, named "Shadko," to which splendid hues are imparted by treatment with acids, is formed by mixing gold and copper, the proportion of gold varying from 1 to 10 per cent of the entire mass.

Would Have Helped Some!

Nick Slick, the latest acquisition to the town, had done the "heavy" in no half-hearted fashion.

Smart, and glib of speech, he had found the townspeople of Little Litville very simple folk and easy game. He had obtained credit right and left, and then he had flown gently away, without ever disturbing the dust or the pile of unpaid bills in his lodgings.

"By gosh!" muttered Wilkins, the grocer, who was hard hit by the defaulter, "if I'd known he didn't intend paying, I'd have charged him double, I would!"—London Tit-Bits.

K. H. S. DOWNS WILLIAMS HIGH

Caunitz in Excellent Form, Strikes Out 16—Glens Falls High Here Memorial Day—Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Whether the example set by the Colonials Saturday afternoon had anything to do with the brand of baseball displayed by the high school lads is a question, but at any rate the Kingston High nine won an exceedingly close victory over the Williams High team 2-1. Due to motor troubles on the way to Kingston, the Williams boys were not able to arrive at the Fair Grounds to play the high school until after the Colonials had ground their meat. The umpire of the Colonial game announced that at the finish of that game the two high schools would compete; as a result an appreciative audience remained

The Kingston High team scored its first run in the second inning when Vogt crossed the line and this score prevailed until the first of the fourth, when on errors by the locals, Mornke of Williams High was passed in. Caunitz all this time was playing and pitching unusual ball for up until the close of the first half of the fifth inning he rolled off 11 strikeouts to Melfi's 3.

In the eighth inning Perlman gained a hit and on an error by the catcher of the Williams contingent was passed to second base. Then Joey Hoffman entered the batter's box. Two consecutive strikes were called on him; another was pitched and the umpire ruled it a ball On the next pitched ball Joey leaned on the sphere and drove it for a three base hit, driving Perlman homeward. The score was then 2-1. In the first of the ninth Leonard was put out on a short stop to first play. Mornke scored a hit, gained second and stole third. Then when a hit would have meant a run, Pender and Riss struck out consecutively, thus ending the game

Throughout the game the Kingston and Williams teams scored 4 hits apiece and but one double play was enacted when Muller fielded a grounder, threw to Hoffman, who tagged the runner and who in turn tossed the ball to Vogt.

The next game will be played at the Fair Grounds Memorial Day, probably at 1 p m, featuring the Glens Falls High School team and the local aggregation. It is probable that the Glens Falls team will save Aitkins the star pitcher, for their coming contest with Albany High School for the Northeastern New York championship, which honor Glens Falls has held quite a few seasons. It that event Caunitz will probably be spared for the game the following Saturday with Poughkeepsie High School.

PEOPLE APPEAL MIGNANO REVERSAL

District Attorney Traver has filed in the county clerk's office a notice of appeal to the court of appeals from the judgment of the appellate division of the supreme court in the case of The People against Sam Mignano, who was convicted in Ulster county court of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced to imprisonment in the Clinton state prison at Dannemora for a term of not less than six years and not more than twelve years.

The appellate division reversed the judgement of conviction and granted a new trial on the ground that Mignano had not had a fair trial. It based its judgment of conviction on questions of law and not on questions of fact and therefore an appeal to the court of appeals may be taken by The People, which would have been impossible if the case had been reversed on questions of fact, the court of appeals dealing only with questions of law except in cases of murder in the first degree when it passes both on the law and the facts.

The prevailing opinion of the appellate division in reversing the judgment of conviction against Mignano was written by Judge Kiley, who based his opinion largely on the cross-examination of Mignano in regard to a previous shooting affair in which he had indulged at Newburgh and the failure of District Attorney Traver or County Judge Fowler to inform the jury that this line of questions was for the purpose of attacking the credibility of Mignano. The prevailing opinion of the court held that, "the jury could well have found that the defendant had the right to refuse to take that chance (running away to avoid killing) and that he adopted the wiser course."

Judge Hinman wrote a dissenting opinion in which he held that the facts did not warrant a reversal, that the remarks of the district attorney were not unfair that no exception was taken to the remarks of the district attorney in his summing up and no ruling or charge was requested, and no question was presented for review. Judge Hinman expressed the opinion that the verdict of the jury was just and the sentence was most moderate

Mignano shot and killed Joseph Maizia on the highway at Malden, in the town of Saugerties, on July 10, 1918, and ran away Two years later, after first arranging for counsel, he returned to Kingston to surrender himself He was indicted and brought to trial on a charge of manslaughter in the first degree The jury which heard the testimony convicted him and he received the sentence stated from Judge Fowler

Since his conviction and on his own admission on the witness stand that he carried a revolver and was not a citizen, Mignano has been indicted for violation of a penal law in carrying a concealed weapon.

SIX KILLED IN OCEAN DISASTER

British Steamer Goes Down Ablaze Following Collision With American Boat In Columbia River.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Portland, Ore., May 29.—Six sailors were killed and three injured in a collision of the British steamer Welch Prince with the American-Hawaiian steamer Iowan, early today in the Columbia River, Oregon, off Altoona, according to wireless messages picked up at Fort Stevens.

The Welch Prince went down thirty minutes after the ships crashed with her superstructure still blazing from the fire that followed the collision.

Her bow badly dented and taking water, the disabled Iowan stood by the stricken British freighter, fighting the flames and took off the surviving members of the Welch Prince's crew, which numbered 43.

She was assisted by the tug Oneonta, which rushed to the scene of the wreck from Astoria.

SEC'Y MELLON GIVEN WHIP HAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29.—President Harding has decided, temporarily at least, to keep hands off in the treasury patronage row.

It was learned authoritatively today that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has been given virtually carte blanche authority to go head with his reorganization plans.

In effect the president has waved aside the protests of senators and congressmen who registered strenuous protests against the action of Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair in deposing some of the appointees of Assistant Secretary Elmer Dover, who was appointed at the behest of these same congressmen to "clean house" in the treasury.

At midnight delicious refreshments were served. The guests departed in the early hours of the morning, having enjoyed a delightful evening and wishing Miss Gardiner many more happy birthdays.

Hats and Husbands.

People are making investigations as to which classes of men make the best husbands. I suppose it all depends on what you call a "good" husband—whether you want one free from vice, and quiet about the house; or the other sort. Personally, I've got a decided longing toward a millionaire, but it's like choosing a new hat—whichever one you have, you'll always wish you had the other.—London Opinion.

Crows Are Lazy Fliers.

Have you ever watched a crow fly and then watched a swallow? The crow, who is notoriously the wisest of birds, usually loafs along on the wing at about twenty-five miles an hour. The swallow speeds at ninety.

Big Ship Heavily Insured.

The greatest insurance ever written in the American market for a single ship has been taken by the American Marine Insurance syndicates. The syndicate, which was created more than a year ago, to provide a market capable of carrying $2,500,000 risk on a single American vessel, announced that 77 members have accepted an insurance of $2,000,000 on the Leviathan on her trip from New York to Newport News. The giant liner also is insured for $2,500,000 while under repair at the southern port. Additional insurance has been written abroad. The liability which the syndicate has assumed would have been impossible without the formation of syndicates.

Japanese Corner.

A Japanese corner in a room may be artistic if simplicity is carefully worked for. A Japanese screen of black satin gold embroidered, or printed china silk, makes a good beginning for this corner. Either a teakwood cabinet or stand continues the effect and a Japanese print for the wall with Japanese lotus plants in a shallow bowl placed either on top of the stand or cabinet completes it.

IN QUIET TOBAGO

West Indian Island the Home of Many Birds.

Species of Some of the Most Beautiful Feathered Creatures in the World Are There.

In the little island of Tobago, the ward of Trinidad in the West Indies and lying to the northwest, birds are seen at their best and are tame enough to be studied easily, writes Dudley S. Corlett in the Los Angeles Times.

At sunset one may see the regular formations of flamingoes, like a rosy cloud, heading for the mainland of Venezuela. Along the shore the pelicans are numerous—clumsy and of dull plumage, that sail all day up and down the margin of the shore watching for fish. They drop down with tremendous velocity, and opening wide their great bills sweep the fish into the pouch which acts as a sein. Then they raise their heads from the sea so that the water may drain from the pouch and leave the fish in the proper position for swallowing. The little gulls perch on their heads awaiting for any chance bits that may fall from an overfull pouch.

In the dark mangrove swamps one sees the gray heron, white egrets, bittern and coot. The gorgeous macaw in his blue and yellow or red and green livery is only a rare visitor from the mainland, but there are flocks of green parrots and noisy parrakeets in every forest glade. Toucans, glossy black, with long-curved bills and yellow crests, clatter from the tree tops, and woodpeckers, red and green, wake the forest silences with their ceaseless work. In the dark bamboo glades may be seen the shy "king of the forest," with his cap of peacock sheen, russet-red breast and long racquet tail. With him will be the iridescent bronzed bee-eater, floating in the sun as he darts after the insect prey, and the golden orioles build their long hanging nests of woven grass from the moss-hung branches of the zamman trees.

There are not many songsters, save a mocking bird, the black and yellow "touch-yah" and some of the tiny sugar and grass birds. And lastly there is what is perhaps the most attractive of all—the bluebird—the bird of happiness. Cobalt is his head and back, soft gray-blue his breast, and he feasts on the ripest fruits or hops unafraid and into the house after stray beetles. Tobago should adopt the bluebird as its crest, for in the faces of the people shine the gift of happiness, whether it be in the bronzed features of the white planters who have elected to lead the simple life on this little island, or whether it be on the shining black faces of the negroes. As Tobago was a British possession when Trinidad was still Spanish, there are hardly any French or Spanish creoles, and most of the estates belong to the descendants of old Scotch families.

Appeals to Adventurous.

Though some of those who know the polar regions develop a kind of love for them, the experience of two British explorers who spent a year on an Antarctic island with no shelter but an overturned boat must have been a severe test of whatever affection they may have had for those latitudes. T. W. Bagshawe, geologist, and Lieutenant C. M. Lester, navigating officer, had provisions, dogs and scientific instruments to keep them company when their companions sailed north, leaving the two to make observations. The return expedition fell into financial difficulties and sent a rescue ship back only in the nick of time. Besides a scientific interest, ventures into the far north and the far south probably are actuated by what one may call a sporting impulse. With them it is a game. They return again and again, and with success comes a genuine liking for the icy seas and archipelagoes, such as led Stefansson to call the northern polar region "the friendly arctic."—New York Sun.

Irish "O" Not an Abbreviation.

That the apostrophe, like the hyphen, is a recent intrusion is the statement of Francis o Sullivan tighe (sic), author of the Irish romance, "The Portion of a Champion." "The 'o,'" he says, "is not a contraction of 'of,' as popularly supposed. It is a contraction of the Irish 'ua' meaning 'the descendant of.' Also the 'o' should not be capitalized except when the Christian name is omitted."

The word "tighe," following the author's name, signifies "of the house," and it is the traditional designation of his family as distinguished from others of the O Sullivan clan. In private life the author is just plain Sullivan, but he thinks that to print it so on the title page of his Fifth century romance would be anachronism.

American Methods in Holland.

Methods of the American milkman have been applied to the oil business in Belgium and Holland by an American oil company. Through its Belgium company it is marketing oil products in those countries in bottles. In the past, distribution has been in cans and drums, involving larger purchases by the consumer at one time. Recently this company introduced the quart bottle and the dog-cart delivery, a system similar to the milk bottle and milk wagon common in this country. Bottles are exchangeable, as with the milkman. It is not now unusual to see a cart loaded with bottles containing oil products going the rounds in Antwerp, Brussels, Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

Undoubtedly.

A ghost which spends its time sitting on the edge of a bath has made its appearance in a large country house near Hitchin. Probably the spirit of a departed plumber who died waiting for his mate.—Passing Show, London.

"LABOR BOARD UNFIT"—GOMPERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 29—The decision of the railroad labor board reducing the wages of maintenance of way employes is, "most unjust and inequitable" because it "penalizes the workers and helps the railroads," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor declared in a statement issued today.

"The decision is another illustration," Gompers said, "of the unfitness of the railroad labor board."

Mass At St. Mary's Cemetery.

The annual memorial Mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's cemetery Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The children of the school will march to the cemetery and decorate the graves.

Great General's Foible.

Some of the greatest men have the simplest habits. The Duke of Wellington, known as the "Iron Duke," always slept on a hard cot without springs, and did not rest easily when he was forced to use a luxurious bed.

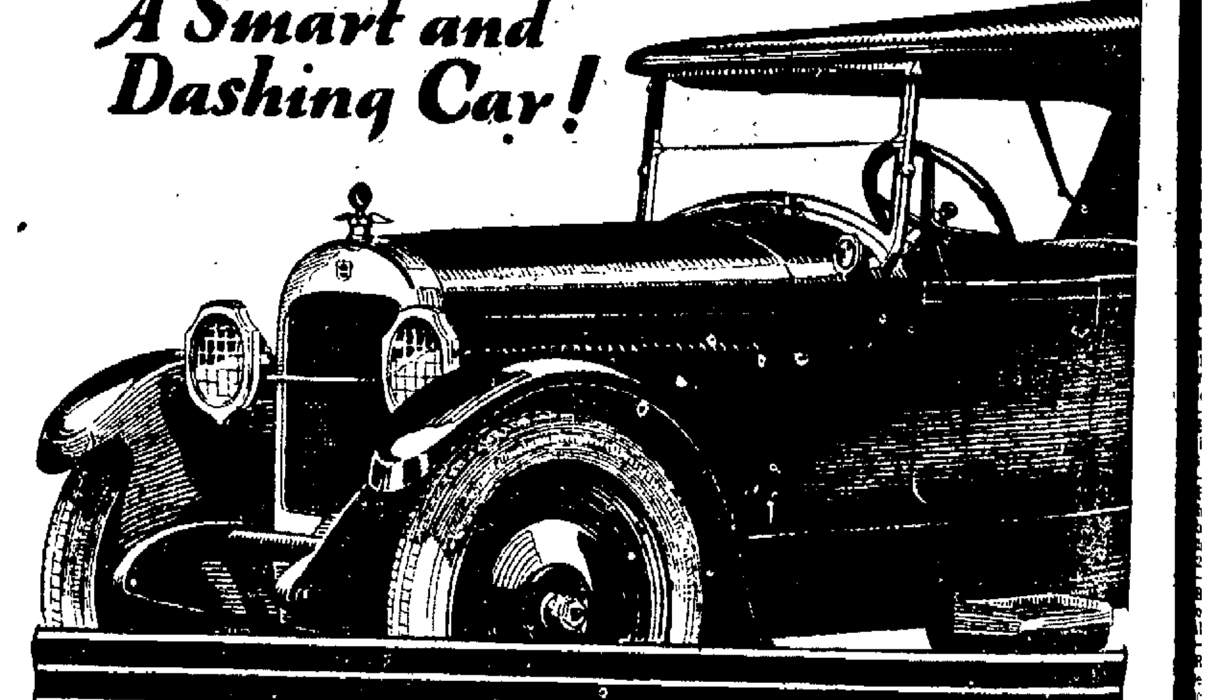
A Smart and Dashing Car!



New LIBERTY
"Special Touring" Six

Here is a touring model for those who demand the vogue and smartness of the minute in a motor car—a special model whose presentation was the signal for a spontaneous popularity that has made it the leader of the new Liberty line.

It will give the same enduring, dependable service that every Liberty is known to give—for the genius of the Liberty engineering staff is even more pronounced in the mechanics of these new models.

In appearance this car is wholly and refreshingly new. Distinctive one-piece, full crown fenders, and solid aluminum steps give it a dashing air. Conventional running boards are furnished if desired. Body and disc wheels are a fascinating blue, handsomely striped. Courtesy lights relieve the sweeping line from radiator to cowl. Radiator and lamps are heavily nickled. Rich and pliant Spanish leather of the finest quality is used through the interior to achieve exceptional comfort. Instrument board and wheel are handsome solid walnut. Its other details are equally unusual.

Inspect this new special touring model. It will reveal an impressive completeness never before attained or even approached—at a price which challenges comparison.

TWO MEMORIAL SERVICES SUNDAY

D. A. R. Chapter and Children Decorate Graves at First Dutch—Patriotic Organizations Cast Flowers on Waters at Kingston Point.

Two public memorial services were held in Kingston Sunday. The services in connection with the placing of flowers on the graves in the old First Dutch Church yard were in charge of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., which organization attended the First Dutch Church morning service in a body. The children of the Sunday School, singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" as their processional, decorated the graves, after which the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Frank B. Seeley, D. D.

The introduction was made by Major James H. Everett who spoke as follows:

Again spring returns and earth renews its youth. Like the seasons the generations of men pass and are succeeded by others. Today we have assembled to pay our tribute of love and respect to the patriots and heroes who made us a nation.

"For what they did and for what they strove to do, remember them today."

When the nation they made was threatened with disruption the young men of that day preserved it and made it the mightiest nation on earth. A remnant of those young men exists in the Grand Army of the Republic as their representative. I have been requested to call this meeting to order and announce the speakers and I shall take great pleasure in soon announcing the name of one of the young heroes of the late World War who will address you.

Memorial Day is peculiarly the National Sabbath of the United States and in enlisting the Sabbath schools and churches in its observance the Daughters of the American Revolution seek to instill in our minds the same lofty sentiments that inspired in their public action the pioneers and patriots of our community and indeed these ladies are highly favored in the object lessons in patriotism that surround them on every hand. On this sacred soil where we are assembled the first church was reared—the foundation of civil and religious liberty and from it the forefathers drew their inspiration to sober living and stalwart patriotism. Here stands the monument to Ulster county's most distinguished citizen From the steps of the neighboring court house he was proclaimed the first governor of the Empire State under a republican form of government. Here with the compatriots who followed him in war and in peace they are taking their last sleep and their works do follow them. In yonder corner stands the General Sharpe monument a noble tribute to the valor of those who with him counted not their lives dear if they might save their country.

Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson then delivered a stirring address on "America's Glorious Past," which was as enthusiastically received as it was delivered.

Following the address by Rear Admiral Higginson, the choir sang, "Oh God! Our Help in Ages Past."

A brief but fine address on "The Significance of Memorial Day" was delivered by A. R. Leighton, Commander of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, which admirably connected the present-day patriotism with our historic past.

The final address was given by the Rev. Albert von Schleeder, who said he was fascinated with the idea of the custom of Wiltwyck Chapter in holding an open air service on the historical spot where they stood, each Memorial Day. He appreciated the instilling of the spirit of patriotism in the minds of the children present, particularly. His address contained many instances of great patriotic acts of the past, always to be held bright in memory and especially caught the children's attention when he recited:

I'm an American born, an American bred,
And when I am gone, I'm an American dead.

The singing of America and the benediction brought the beautiful service to a close.

In the afternoon the lovely service of casting flowers upon the waters of the historic Hudson, in memory of the soldiers and sailors of these United States who had given their lives for their country and who had found a watery grave, was held at Kingston Point. The arrangements for the service were made by Mrs. A. Flicker, and were admirable, the organization in charge being the Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, Tappen Camp, No. 1.

The program opened with the singing of "Nearer my God to Thee," young ladies from the Ponckhockie Congregational Church and the Church of the Comforter assisting in the singing, while the Salvation Army Band furnished the instrumental music.

After the hymn, the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary presented an appropriate ritual and prayer was offered by the Rev. W. F. Stowe, pastor of the Church of the Comforter. After the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," Miss Anna Taylor gave a beautiful recitation. The officers of the Auxiliary then stepped forward and impressively cast their lovely burden of memorial flowers upon the Hudson's sunlit waters, the entire assembly standing at "attention."

After an appropriate recitation by Master Victor Taylor, Major James H. Everett, for the G. A. R., spoke feelingly of those whose memory the fitting service recalled and Com. Benjamin F. Carney responded for the Sons of Veterans, while the American Legion was represented by J. Frank Gallows, Jr., of Newburgh, who also touched the Hudson from another point.

Mrs. Stanley Matthews for the American Legion Auxiliary, bespoke the loyal commemoration of that body as she scattered their floral tribute upon the waters.

Then followed a nobly patriotic address given by the Rev. W. F. Stowe, after which America was sung by all present, after which Mrs. A. Flicker of the Auxiliary recited,

"Gone but not forgotten, these brave men, good and true;
May we, as Sons and Daughters, be brave with courage, too."

After the benediction a volley was fired across the waters by a firing squad from Company I, N. G., bringing the services to a close.
